Records further indicate that on 9/29/87 [REDACTED] appeared at the Staff Offices of Congressman Les Aspin, in Janesville, Wisconsin, at which time he [REDACTED] advised that he was a veteran, and felt that the U. S. Government owed him a job. [REDACTED] made physical threats toward the staff, and also threatened to travel to Washington, D. C., to get his problem solved. Staff members described [REDACTED]

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] was quoted as stating "I'm crazy, on the edge and I'm ready to explode." The incident prompted a staff member to notify [REDACTED] of the U. S. Capitol Police, in Washington, D. C., as well as local law enforcement officials in Wisconsin, as to their concern for the safety of staff members and Congressman Aspin.

On the same date, 9/29/87, records reflect that [REDACTED] appeared at the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources Kettle Moraine State Forest Visiting Center, near Eagle and Palmyra, Wisconsin, "acting rather strange." He had apparently come to the visiting center to reclaim shotgun shells which had been confiscated from him by a Warden, approximately one and one-half years prior. The individual who spoke to [REDACTED] advised that he "was acting strange and seemed to be in need of some mental help."

b7C

On 9/30/87, [REDACTED] contacted Warden Doug Hoskins, at which time he again demanded that his shotgun shells be returned. He [REDACTED] further stated that if he did not get satisfaction, he "would harass the visitors center on a daily basis." Hoskins advised that [REDACTED]

b6
b7C

On this same date, 9/30/87, [REDACTED] U. S. Capitol Police, discussed this case with law enforcement officials in Wisconsin, at which time he noted that his department was concerned about Congressman Aspin's safety, in view of [REDACTED] visit to the Staff Office; he further advised that the FBI might ultimately become involved in the investigation. Because of the

b6
b7C

concern expressed by [redacted] arrangements were made between him and [redacted] Walworth County Sheriff's Dept., Wisconsin, for security to be provided to Congressman Aspin on his planned trip to Elkhorn, Wisconsin, on October 17, 18, and 19, 1987. [redacted] noted that the recommendation for protection was based on the fact that [redacted] was very abrasive, volatile, and had displayed aggressive behavior. He further noted that [redacted] had access to weapons and was considered an expert with a rifle by local authorities; it was also noted that [redacted] was considered dangerous, and suffered from mental problems.

b7C

On 10/13/87 [redacted] was personally interviewed by FBI Milwaukee at his place of residence, [redacted]. During the interview [redacted] emphatically denied ever having made threats to do harm to Congressman Aspin or any of his employees. [redacted] stated his purpose for agitating, showing ire, and making various comments, including his alleged craziness and being a trained killer, were all done in order to have the Congressman's office give him better assistance in helping him to find a job. [redacted] was both cautioned and warned that threats and other related activities could constitute a violation of federal law. The results of the interview with Luebke were presented to AUSA [redacted] Western District of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisc., for a prosecutive opinion. AUSA [redacted] declined prosecution regarding the matter, after which the case was closed.

b7C

Most recently [redacted] again came to the attention of the U. S. Capitol Police on 9/19/88, when [redacted] (AC 608/752-9074) [redacted] Congressman Les Aspin, advised of the following:

b6
b7C

On 9/18/88 during the opening ceremonies of Congressman Aspin's campaign office in Delavan, Wisconsin [redacted] approached the Congressman and grabbed him by the arm. According to witnesses, [redacted] stated... "you mother fucker you're the most disgusting person I've ever met." Luebke was removed from the area by [redacted] of the Delavan, Wisconsin, Police Department.

b7C

[redacted] further advised that [redacted] had told him that the FBI interviewed him regarding a threatening statement which he [redacted] had made previously. According to [redacted] told him that he [redacted] had "snowed the FBI" by telling them that he had not made the statement, and they believed him.

b7C

[redacted] U. S. Capitol Police, requested a copy of the police report regarding this incident, and told [redacted] that he would advise the FBI/WMFO of the incident, and seek their opinion as to whether or not [redacted] might pose a threat to Congressman Aspin in the future. [redacted] contacted SA [redacted] FBI/WMFO, at which time he advised that [redacted] was getting more aggressive, and had physically confronted (grabbed) Congressman Aspin in public. SA [redacted] arranged for [redacted] to meet with the BSISU on 9/22/88 to review the case.
